DEDICATION

Together, they have given over 40 years of service to Holmes Community College. Separately, they have given countless hours above and beyond the call of duty.

They are the Irbys. Ann and Robert Irby.

And it is for this service, this deep sense of commitment to the institution, that we dedicate the 1991-92 Horizons to each of them.

Their association with Holmes began with the Irbys as students, where they were both extremely active in the music department. He gave of his talents as a tenor. Her expertise as both a pianist and a vocalist was utilized by various ensembles.

After finishing their studies at the campus in Goodman, they continued their education. Mississippi State University granted Robert Irby a bachelor's degree in 1951 and a master's in 1971. Ann holds a bachelor's from Belhaven College and a master's from Mississippi State University.

Over the years, their job descriptions have evolved. Robert joined Holmes as an employee as an instructor of building and construction technology. He then served as director of vocational-technical education until 1987, when he became Vice-President of Instruction.

ANN AND ROBERT IRBY

staff, administration, and countless students who have been a part of Holmes Community College, hold Robert and Ann Irby in the highest regard.

This Horizons dedication is merely a manifestation of the esteem in which the two of them are held by the many individuals whose lives they have touched.

Ann joined the staff as a remedial reading instructor and later took on the additional duties of Director of Student Support Services. Of course, her labors in the music department as pianist for the choir and as an instructor of piano are not to be forgotten.

But one thing has remained constant: their willingness to give of their time has never ended at 3:30 in the afternoon.

And their dedication to Holmes hasn't ended with their retirement, either. Ann still accompanies the vocal groups when needed. Robert can still be found around the Goodman Campus, although his office has moved to McDaniel Hall from the District Administration Building and his work now comes under the auspices of the Holmes County Economic Development Authority.

It is for this enthusiasm, devotion, and service that the faculty,

Every president of Holmes Community College has left his own indelible mark on Holmes Community College. Perhaps it is in the faculty and staff that he has hired. Perhaps it is in the buildings that have been built. But in each year of a president's tenure, there are important changes made.

In this, the third year of Holmes Community College president Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, Sr.'s tenure, many remarkable changes have been made.

One of great note is the resurgence of the Development Foundation, which had been dormant for several years. The foundation was created in the late 70s to provide a vehicle to raise funds from private sources, an idea which becomes more and more important as funds from the legislature become increasingly more difficult to obtain.

Headed by Dr. Don Phillips, the group is made up of 30 men and women representing the nine counties that make up the Holmes district who are committed to promoting Holmes and raising funds for its "Lighting the Way" campaign.

The major fund-raising effort is intended to supply those resources needed to continue the college's comprehensive program of instruction, student services and activities, adult and continuing education, community services, and economic development and industrial service to the citizens of its nine-county district.

A significant portion of the the goal has been met under the auspices of the Kelly Gene Cook, Sr. Foundation. Mrs. Peggy Cook of Houston, Tex. and other representatives of the foundation announced a $500,000 challenge to Holmes during homecoming festivities. Under the terms of this challenge, if the college can raise $500,000, the Cook Foundation will match that with an additional $500,000, thus accomplishing the goal of a $1 million endowment.

As a token of their commitment to Holmes, Mrs. Cook presented Dr. Morgan a check for $100,000 that represents a match for the $100,000 already existing in the Holmes Development Foundation.

As a tribute to Kelly Gene Cook, Sr., who is an alumnus of Holmes, the new residence hall on the Goodman Campus will carry his name.

In January, ground was broken on the new men's dorm, which will be located in a pine grove, overlooking the lake on the western side of the campus.

The hall will house 75 students and include an apartment for a dorm supervisor and a weight room. The two-story structure will have a total area of 17,620 square feet.

The institution that Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, Sr. has led this year is one of progress, movement, and growth which will be felt for decades to come.

The Fashion Merchandising course of study prepares a student for a career in a variety of jobs in the clothing industry. Through working with fabrics and styles, as well as marketing and sales, students learn about the fashion business from designer to manufacturer to retailer to consumer.

In Fashion Clothing and Selection students examine factors which influence wardrobe planning including color, line, and design. Through use of the Ideal Silhouette software package, the students learn which clothing details are best for each type of figure and how to camouflage figure faults.

Fashion Merchandising is an introductory fashion course that exposes the students to many of the concepts of the fashion industry and its relationship to retail merchandising. The students study the evolution of fashion including haute couture and foreign and domestic designers. Students complete a report on a favorite designer.

In Fashion Buying and Coordination the functions of a buyer and fashion coordinator within the retail operation, including how to track fashion trends. All aspects of merchandising math are covered from markup to six month buying plans. The students research trends through Women's Wear Daily and other fashion publications. Students present a color, textile, and accessory trend report.

The Clothes Closet

The examination of natural and man-made fibers and yarns to determine the type of weave or knit, is one part of the course Fashion and Household Fabrics. Such laboratory tests as the burn, acetone, and chloring bleach tests are used to identify fabrics. Students also learn about the finishes and care of textiles.

The Salesmanship course exposes the students to the fundamental steps in the selling process. Everything from how to deal with different personalities to business etiquette is included in the course.

Writing advertising objectives, selecting target markets, setting budgets, and selecting the proper media to use for an ad campaign is covered in Advertising Principles. Each student will prepare and ad layout in the print media area and a radio spot and storyboard for a TV spot in the process of completing and ad campaign for one product or service.

In Principles of Marketing, students study the movement of goods from the producer to consumer through the various channels of distribution, functions of marketing, including promotion, and the social and economic implications.

A Modeling course designed to practice modeling and to train students to be a professional models. Students participate in fashion shows, tea room modeling, and perform for other audiences.

The completed observatory makes a striking addition to the Goodman Campus at night. This page. Paige Frazure reads the quote chosen for the plaque on the observatory wall.

For two years the idea of an astronomy laboratory was tossed around between Holmes instructors Luther Boggan and Michael Burchfield. Basically, the laboratory they had discussed would be a shed with a sliding roof. After meeting with Holmes' president Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, Sr., and then vice-president Dr. Tommy Davis in 1990, Boggan and Burchfield were instructed to make plans and gather costs for an even better facility.

Boggan and Burchfield began their research by visiting Clark Observa-Dome and the Millsaps Observatory of Jackson. They researched written materials, consulted persons concerning the business of building, and gathered costs of the structure and instruments. After gathering costs and making plans, Boggan and Burchfield selected a site for the observatory. The observatory would be built on the hill on the southwest side of the school's lake. After the plans were approved by Dr. Morgan and Dr. Davis, a presentation was made before the board by Boggan, Burchfield, Dr. Morgan, and Dr. Davis. The board unanimously approved the plans.

Work on the observatory began in Sept. 1990 with the help of many Holmes instructors and private businesses. On Sept. 28, 1991 work was completed when the 14 inch Schmidt-Casegrain telescope made by Celestron was installed. On the evening of Sept. 28, the first light seen was Saturn.

The observatory project was made possible by the help of many individuals, but funding of the observatory made it even more possible. In Nov. of 1990 Michael Burchfield wrote two proposals to the National Science Foundation for the telescope and other instruments. The proposals were accepted and the project was funded through the Instrumental and Laboratory Improvement Program which is part of the National Science Foundation.

Because Holmes Community College was one of the schools accepted, Burchfield and Boggan were invited to come speak to the American Astronomical Society in Atlanta, Ga. They spoke on how the grants would be used in the building of the observatory.

The observatory is now being used by the astronomy students. Soon a computer and other instrumentation will be moved to the observatory to enable students to accomplish even greater things with the use of the observatory.

The Grenada Center, long known for its excellent nursing program, has added a new dimension to its medical classes, Medical Terminology.

Medical Terminology is a language all its own. Most of the words are of Greek and Latin derivative so sometimes two different words can mean the same thing. This can sometimes make an already complex even more confusing; however, the key to learning medical terminology is to learn the meaning of the roots, prefixes and suffixes. If this can be accomplished, many medical terms can be deciphered simply by breaking the word down into parts.

The textbook that we are using, Terminology For Allied Health Professionals, is designed to give brief lessons in anatomy and physiology. Each body system and all body parts are addressed in the book with supplementary vocabulary included with each chapter. There is also a list of roots, prefixes and suffixes and their definitions appropriate to each system, abbreviations commonly used, and drugs used in medical treatment. The book also discusses the make-up of a medical record such as histories, physicals, discharge summaries and operative reports.

Memorization plays a large role in learning medical terminology but a great deal is learned by working with the terms in a medical setting. A course such as this is just the beginning of developing a medical vocabulary for anyone interested in working in the medical profession.

"Medical Terminology has been a wonderful opportunity for the students at Holmes' Grenada Center. It is a plus in the Business Department because it broadens the horizons of opportunities to unlimited possibilities. The medical field is one of the fastest growing and most exciting fields in our society today. This course peaks the students curiosity and challenges them to learn more about word parts and their meanings. Medical Terminology teaches us how complex our bodies are, and how all the systems coordinate to make us function.

Our instructor, Theresa Liberto, was especially knowledgeable because of her twenty years of experience in the Medical Records Field. During the semester she explained the terms, word parts in such a way that the students completely understood just how all the body parts fit together and function. After completion of this program, students at Holmes can seek such jobs as Medical Transcription or Medical Records."

The Reading Center, which is located on the Goodman Campus, was established for students to enhance their overall reading skills including vocabulary, comprehension, study skills, and reading speed.

Headed by Julia Williams and Wanda Aldy, the center is open to all Holmes students. The facility is also used as a classroom.

Tutoring is offered at least one night per week in a variety subjects, which change each semester according to the needs of the students and the requests they make. But usually assistance is given in all maths, sociology, history, government, chemistry, and psychology and always in reading and study skills.

Tutoring is conducted by instructors and students at the reading center but also by instructors on different days in their respective buildings.

It is one of many Holmes programs designed to help students reach their highest potential.

"As an instructor, I feel that I am a facilitator, but the work is up to the student! In tutoring, the tutor is helping the student to help himself. It all boils down to the student and whether or not he or she really wants an education," said Julia Williams, a reading and study skills instructor.

Because reading is such a fundamental part of learning, The Reading Center contains plenty of reading material, including current newspapers such as the Clarion-Ledger and USA Today. Magazines, including Redbook, Glamour, Newsweek, and Sports Illustrated are also available for students who want to read, but need a

The center expands its hours during exams each semester to help give the students a quiet, relaxing place to study, with assistance if needed.

Cranking up for Knowledge

Increased sales have sparked the need for more and more technicians who are highly trained and capable of servicing more and more complex engines.

Toyota estimates another 4,000 qualified technicians will be needed to properly service domestically owned vehicles by 1995.

The T-TEN Program, the Toyota-Technical Education Network, includes on the job training with classroom theory to prepare students for employment in today's automotive industry. Holmes Community College has been associated with Toyota for approximately five years.

The Vocational Department has eight students in the program. The students who are in this program have to be well rounded and intelligent. Some of the students in this program have made 20 and above on their ACT.

Holmes is the only school in Mississippi in the Toyota T-TEN program. The Holmes program is currently one of 60 being offered at community colleges throughout the country.

Part of the program provides scholarships for students, hoping that the scholarship fund would encourage automotive students to pursue certification as qualified Toyota technicians for servicing Toyota vehicles.

Increased sales have sparked the need for more and more technicians who are highly trained and capable of servicing more and more complex engines. Toyota estimates another 4,000 qualified technicians will be needed to properly service domestically owned vehicles by 1995.

In addition to the scholarships, Toyota provides vehicles and tools, including a kind of combination of the two. This machine is a complete working engine mounted on a tester which allows the students to see closely how well the engine is performing.

The students are placed in Toyota dealerships to work during the summer as well as permanent employment upon completion of the program.

Catching the Airwaves

Changes have been made at the campus radio station, WVTH-FM 89.5. Mike Goodwin, a 24 year radio veteran, has been named director. The transmitter has been repaired to give the students a more reliable and better sounding source of tunes.

Bulldog Radio WVTH-FM 89.5 has undergone some changes. Mike Goodwin has been named the director of the student-staffed radio station.

Goodwin's responsibilities include teaching the broadcasting technology courses on the Goodman Campus.

The Arkansas native received a B.S. in Radio/Television Broadcasting Technology with a minor in marketing from West Texas State University in Canyon, Tex. He holds an FCC First Class Radio-telephone Operator's License.

He and his wife Linda have owned and operated WSSI-AM/FM Radio in Carthage since 1983. Their three children have also worked at the radio station.

Having been in radio since 1967, Goodwin has worked at numerous stations, including a station in Miami, Okla., on a station once owned by Gene Autry and KIXZ in Amarillo, Tex., now owned by Mel Tillis.

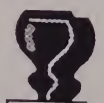

Before going into radio, he served in Vietnam as part of the 173rd Airborne Brigade and sold yellow-page advertising for Continental Telephone.

"I have always wanted to teach and I enjoy the opportunity to work with the students," said Goodwin.

Bulldog radio, whose listening hours are 1 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday and during all football and basketball games, plays a variety of kinds of music, concentrating on Top 40 and country.

The Way We Wore

by Jodi Cummins

As you walk around the Holmes campuses, you may notice certain styles of dress being worn by various students.

Among the styles of dress worn by the students, you may also notice that it is fashionable to have a certain label on particular items, such as "Guess" blue jeans and "Keds" tennis shoes.

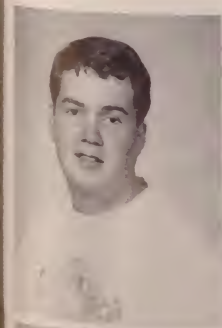

Some of today's fads include baseball caps, braided leather belts, printed buttondown shirts with a t-shirt or turtleneck underneath, and "Girbaud" and "Guess" jeans for the guys.

The girls have donned themselves with hair bows, men's shirts, multi-colored leather belts, "Keds" tennis shoes, and "Girbaud" and "Guess" jeans. Girls like to accessorize with monogram jewelry.

AT THE HEAD OF THE

Sophomore Becky Buford, physical therapy major on the Goodman Campus of Holmes Community College's three-facility system, was selected as the college's 1992 student

"I have enjoyed the college. After going to a small high school, I came here and found everyone quite friendly. I think this is a real honor. I didn't expect it. But if it were not for the teachers I have had at Holmes, I wouldn't have been able to achieve this."

-Becky Buford

Higher Education Appreciation Day Working for Academic Excellence, or H.E.A.D.W.A.E. representative.

Established in 1988 by State Representative Cecil Simmons, the program each year recognizes an outstanding faculty member and student from each of the state's two-year and four-year public and private colleges. Buford with Ridgeland Campus faculty H.E.A.D.W.A.E. representative, Lynn Wright attended a February honorees' banquet where they will be publicly recognized for gaining selection as H.E.A.D.W.A.E. representatives.

Eva Rebecca Buford, or Becky to those who know her on the Goodman Campus, is the daughter of Tommy '62 and Janie McLellan '64 Buford of Sallis. Becky is the sister of Joy Buford Trehern '86, the first Holmes student H.E.A.D.W.A.E. winner.

Buford attends Holmes on a President's Scholarship. She has maintained a 4.0 grade point average while earning 40 hours credit in the core courses required of a student majoring in a health-related profession. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national junior, community college honor society. She serves the Goodman chapter as its public relations secretary.

While attending Holmes, Buford has won the Freshman English Award. She has also earned first-place honors for an essay, later published in Holmes' literary magazine, Reflections.

About Holmes and the award Buford said, "I have enjoyed the college. After going to a small high school, I came here and found everyone quite friendly.

"I think this is a real honor. I didn't expect it. But if it were not for the teachers I have had at Holmes I wouldn't have been able to achieve this."

The 1990 East Holmes Academy honor graduate resides in Sallis with her parents. Upon graduation from Holmes she plans to transfer to the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

Cook Foundation Gives Holmes a $500,000 Challenge Grant

"His vision was educational help," Ray Mikell, Kosciusko attorney said, referring to Kelly Gene Cook, Sr.

Ant help it has been for three of the state's post sedcondary institutions plus numerous other schools and projects. Now members of the Kelly Gene Cook, Sr. Foundation, which was established by the late Cook, a Holmes Community College alumnus, have announced that Holmes is being given a $500,000 challenge grant.

What this means to Holmes is that the foundation will match dollar-for dollar every contribution made to the college's development foundation. There is a $500,000 limit on the amount the foundation will contribute.

Cook who died suddenly on Nov. 27, 1989, established the foundation to provide educational assistance to the students of Mississippi. Prior to his death the French Camp Academy graduate provided substantial funds, personally and through his foundation, the Academy.

Since Cook's death the foundation has made available a million dollars each to the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State University, and Millsaps. These grants represent sums in addition to scholarships established for a limited number of students attending the three colleges.

While committed to Ole Miss and Millsaps, foundation members stipulated that funds set aside for the colleges will be disbursed over the next five years. This decision was based on the length of time needed to settle the estate.

Cook, the original president of the charitable group, was superseded by his wife, Mrs. Peggy Cook, of Huntsville, Texas. Other members include Cook's fellow French Camp Academy graduate and friend, Ray Mikell, who serves as vice-president; and Deborah Rochelle, the late benefactor's niece, a school counselor in Louisiana.

Also serving the foundation are Erik Hearon, a Jackson, Miss., CPA and Cook's accountant and Corbin Barnes of Baton Rouge, La., a retired electrical engineer and husband of the benefactor's late sister.

These members, after visiting the Holmes Campus and discussing the school's needs and priorities with the college's president, Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, Sr., decided to provide the means whereby the college could benefit from the foundation's largess through a challenge grant.

Mikell said that Cook wanted to do something for Holmes just as he had provided for French Camp Academy and Mississippi State. The philanthropist had grown up near French Camp in a small community in Attala County named Chapel Hill. Living in that community, he attended French Camp Academy. The foundation's benefactor then went on to Holmes Community College and ultimately Mississippi State University.

And it was also Cook's wish that Chapel Hill Methodist Church be assisted through his foundation. In addition he helped support a school in Houston, Tex. for students with learning disabilities.

Mikell said Cook's modest circumstances in rural Attala County obviously helped shape the man. He grew up on a 140-acre family farm near Chapel Hill. After graduating from Holmes Community College and Mississippi State University, he became involved in some of the largest pipeline construction projects ever conceived.

Armed with an engineering degree, Cook began a career that ultimately led to ownership of His own company, Gregory and Cook, Inc.; this permitted the Attala County native, through his business acumen, to acquire means whereby the many educational and philanthropic projects he developed over the years could be assisted and aided financially.

Cook, through his foundation, provided the means to assist Mississippi students in meeting their educational needs. His legacy lives through his beneficence. Holmes Community College students, like those of other state schools, will have been directly assisted.

In the long run all of Mississippi will benefit indirectly when the fruits of this unique Holmes Community College graduate's labors begin to be placed in positions of leadership. He was a builder. His efforts for a better Mississippi through increased educational opportunity will bear their own testimony to his foresight and ability to see accurately into the future.

REACHing Out to the Non-traditional Student

The Program for Single Parent/Displaced Homemakers offers applicants practical help for getting a job and emotional support for gaining control of their lives.

The Single Parent/Displaced Homemaker Program offers non-traditional vocational, technical, and academic training for single, divorced, or widowed heads of household interested in returning to the work force or to school for training.

Lack of marketable skills and job experience leaves many single heads of household unprepared to surmount the barriers to entry into the labor force and consequently, unable to support themselves and their families.

The program for Single Parent/Displaced Homemakers offers applicants practical help for getting a job and emotional support for gaining control of their lives.

A displaced homemaker is a person whose principal job has been homemaking, has been dependent on the income of another person or cash public assistance but is no longer supported by that income and has or would have difficulty in securing employment sufficient to provide for economic independence. The counseling, career orientation, and basic education classes, as well as other services provided through the REACH (Receive Educational Attention, Challenge, and Help) program are provided at no cost to the student.

Dr. Alva S. Cobb is the new REACH Program

Coordinator. A native of Yazoo City, she earned her undergraduate degree from Tennessee State University. She then did graduate work at Michigan State in Student Personnel Services. Afterwards she earned her doctorate at New York University in Higher Education Administration.

Massey
Scholarship is the Opportunity of a Lifetime

The Massey Medical Scholarship was founded in 1989 by Samuel O. Massey, Jr. M.D.

After attending Holmes Junior college from 1951 to 1953, Massey continued his education at the University of Tennessee and Tulane University where he specialized in otolaryngology (Ear, Nose, and Throat). Being from rural Mississippi, he is cognizant of and concerned about the medical needs of the underprivileged in his native state; therefore, he has dedicated much of his time to caring for the less fortunate who cannot afford the everincreasing cost of medical care. In an effort to raise the awareness for this need, as well as promote better health in this population, Dr. Massey has established a scholarship program for medical and medically related professions.

The scholarship is available to students who attend Holmes Community College, or one of its branches, for a minimum of forty-eight semester hours. The student must have plans to obtain a degree in medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, or some other health-related field. If selected for the scholarship, the recipient will be provided tuition for all required courses toward reaching the respective medically related time to caring for the non-paying patient.

Recipients of the scholarship are chosen each spring by an independent board of directors, with board members representing Holmes Community College and the Massey family.

"The Massey Scholarship is an opportunity of a lifetime. Receiving the scholarship is a great honor, and it can be a rewarding and enriching experience." said Wirt Hayes, Director of Development and Financial Aid.

1991-92

Massey Scholarship Recipients

Dena Bober

Dena Bober, wife of John Bober, was selected as a Massey Scholarship recipient. After being in the Air Force for six and one-half years, Dena decided to go into pre-med. She learned about the scholarship through working with Dr. Massey.

Dena was stationed at the Eglin Air Force Base in Fort Walton Beach, Fla. where she worked at the base hospital as a scrub technician. At the time Dr. Massey was chief of Surgery at the hospital, and Dena worked his room sometimes. She got to know him better when both of them volunteered for Special Olympics.

When Dr. Massey learned of Dena's interest in scholarships for nursing school, he asked her how far she would be willing to go. After some consideration of the scholarship, Dena decided to apply for it. Dr. Massey recommended her to the board, and Dena was selected.

"The scholarship is wonderful! When I sit down to think about it, I really can't believe how fortunate I am to have received this," said Bober.

Massey helps students prepare for a future in medicine

1991-92 Scholarship Recipients

Karen Hutto

Benton High School graduate Karen Hutto, daughter of Rev. Bill and Barbara Hutto, has won numerous honors prior to being selected a Massey Scholarship recipient. At Benton High School she earned membership in the National Honor Society and her school's Honor club.

In addition to numerous subject awards won during Hutto's high school years, she was selected and 11th grade Class Favorite; in her senior year she was selected Homecoming Queen, Most Intellectual, and president of her class.

The Benton senior has served her high school for the last three years on its newspaper and annual staffs. And she is the winner of the United States Achievement Academy Honor Student Award.

"Last year I became interested in a medical related field. I felt I could help people and be more involved." It was at that juncture Hutto decided upon pharmacy as a career.

Future plans for the pharmacy major include getting her first two years at Holmes and then going to Ole Miss. This will be made possible by the Massey stipend, of which Hutto said, "I was proud to receive the Massey Scholarship. Dr. Massey's interest in me has provided the money for my education." Continuing she said of the 10 percent request of her time after graduation, "I think its important I give back some of my time."

Hugh Moore

Vaughan native Hugh S. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Moore, is a Benton Academy graduate. Both parents are Holmes Community College alumni.

At Benton Academy her earned membership in the Beta Club, serving as president his senior year. He was also a member of the Science Club, 4-H Club, and Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

In addition to numerous subject awards won during high school, he was selected Most Intellectual for the last five years. In athletics he is a National Scholar/Athlete, winning the honor for his academic performance and participation in football and track.

Moore served on his high school newspaper and annual, the latter as business editor. He was also a member of the Benton Academy Student Council, serving this year as treasurer.

"Last year I became interested in a medical related field. I felt I could help people and be more involved," thus, future plans for the pre-med major include graduating from Holmes and then transferring to either Mississippi State or Ole Miss. Moore says that regardless, once he graduates from medical school he will stay in Mississippi.

As for the stipulation that he will donate 10 percent of his time to those in need of his services, yet are unable to pay he said, "That's the least I can do. Most doctors give that much of their time whether they get a scholarship or not. Surely those in need deserve 10 percent of my time."

Sherri Barfield Steed

East Holmes Academy graduate Sherr Barfield Steed of Kosciusko is the daughter of Nell and Gene Barfield and the wife of Mark Steed. Valedictorian of her class.

Steed earned admission to the Mississippi Private School Association Honor Society, a group she serves as reporter. She was also selected for membership into Who's who Among American High School students; earned a National English Merit Award, and served on both her school's newspaper and yearbook staffs.

The Kosciusko student has earned subject awards in English; Mississippi History; Civics; World History; Chemistry; Biology and math awards in Algebra and Geometry.

At present Steed's plans are to pursue an associate degree nursing program at Holmes' Grenada Center. She hopes at a later date to gain admittance to medical school.

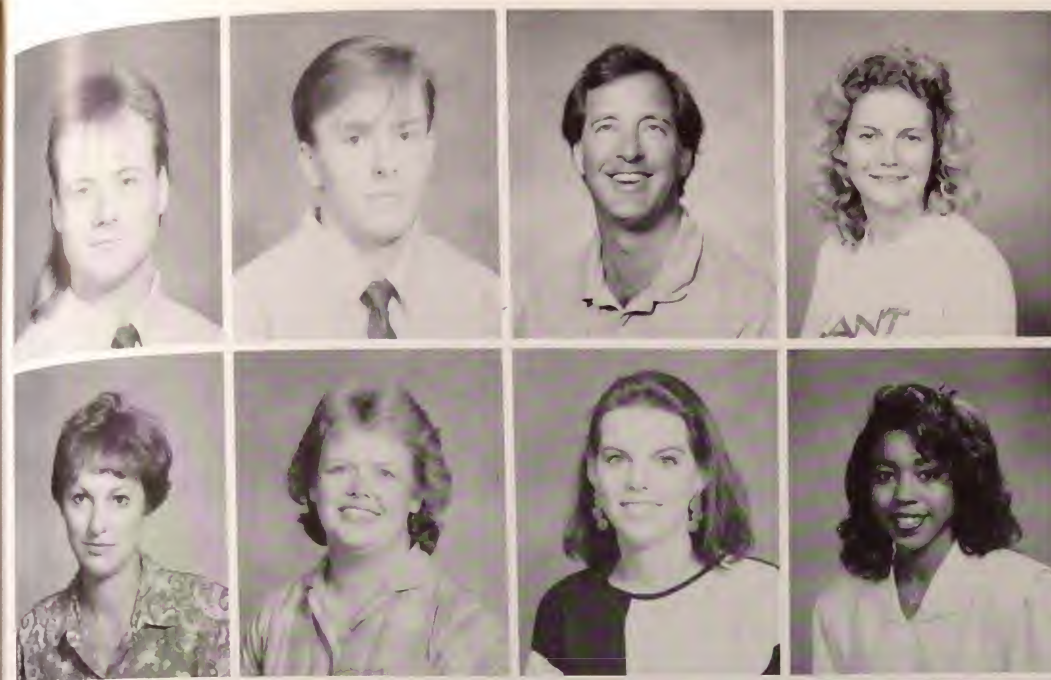

"It's wonderful opportunity for anyone considering a medical related field. I will try to make the most of my opportunity," said Steed of her selection as a Massey recipient.

Joy Withers, daughter of Jimmie and Janice Withers of Kosciusko, is a Kosciusko High School graduate.

activities including Marching band, Symphonic band, Jazz band, Winter Guard, the student newspaper staff, basketball manager, Center Stage Theatre Productions, DECA Vice-President, and Beta Club.

Her efforts while a high school student garnered her numerous awards including Honor Roll, Superintendent's Honor Roll, Outstanding Student in Accounting, Algebra II, and English III. Withers won first place in the state DECA competition in Vehicles and Petroleum Marketing. As a senior, she was named STAR student for the school.

Although Withers gave a great deal of time to academics and extracurricular activities, she managed to find time to pursue her interest in the medical field by volunteering at Munford Jones Hospital in Kosciusko.

Withers reaches out to anyone in need of health care, or simply the kind attention of someone concerned; she visits the nursing home with her youth group at First Baptist Church.

Her after-school hours during high school were spent preparing for her future in the medical field as well. Although most of her work at the Attala Medical Clinic was done in an office, helping with the paperwork, she was given the opportunity to work in the lab from time to time.

After completing her studies at Holmes, Withers plans to attend the University of Mississippi for her undergraduate degree and the University Medical Center is where she will pursue a medical degree. At this point, she is considering specializing in trauma and emergency room medicine.

"Emergency room medicine is not routine; people in an emergency room often need attention more than those who come into an office. You can help them more."

GRENADA COMPLETES COURTYARD

Hard physical labor and persistent effort have paid off. The courtyard at the Grenada Center has been completed.

The project, conceived in June of 1990, was under the direction of John Swanson, Dennis Little, and John Arrechea.

Swanson, drafting instructor, Little, drafting and design technology instructor, and Arrechea, forest technology instructor, began the physical work on the project in June of 1991. Swanson and Little drew up the plans with the use of computer-aided drafting. Faculty and students have both put many hours into the undertaking.

The courtyard serves a lot of practical purposes for all students. There are tables and chairs to be used for group meetings, studying, and just relaxing between classes.

Since the courtyard is surrounded by the building, the wind factor will be very low, creating an enjoyable setting throughout the year.

It doesn't matter whether it's a window, a mannequin or yourself, the Ridgeland Campus has the instructors and programs that teach dressing; well, they don't teach you how to cook dressing, but all those other forms that are used in business are readily available.

Holmes fosters heterogeneity. Not variety for variety's sake, but a wide array of offerings to meet the myriad demands of a highly diverse student population are an ingrained part of the Holmes philosophy.

Available to students on Holmes' southernmost campus are a plethora of curricula that prepare academic students for transfer to senior institutions or for those who prefer immediate entrance into the world or work after one or two years learning on the outskirts of the state's capital.

Machine shops that are almost indistinguishable from computer labs, static displays of electronic instrument packages and computers all abound in the stucco-colored buildings that are called Holmes' Ridgeland Campus.

And with the variety of the curricula is an accompanying variety in instructors. Teachers bring to the many classrooms not only academic credentials, but often years of work experience to augment their instruction.

Grounds for Play

Intramural sports at the Grenada Center gained popularity over the 1990-91 school year and continued to be actively participated in during the 91-92 year.

The only problem with this was the lack of a true playing field. The Grenada Center sits on beautiful land with some flat areas, which were used for the intramural games.

But students and faculty felt that something more was needed. They needed an area designated specifically for the use of sports.

So faculty and students went to the center director, Jack Holmes. And, with his assistance, arranged for bulldozers to come in and make a playing field.

So in the fall the bulldozers did just that. The land behind the building was cleared and made into a flat, even surface perfect for playing intramural sports for the enjoyment of students for years to come.

Students and faculty in front of the area designated as the intramural field as the bulldozers work on clearing the ground and leveling the surface are (l-r) Howard Ornsby, Robbie Parks, Anne Beck, Jason Rideout, and Bettye Hollingsworth.

A weekday morning, not long before eight, the most exciting thing happening is a yawn or two, these from an occasional faculty or staff member who slowly unfolds from their cars. You know the cars, the ones in the reserved places; the ones that as a group don't look nearly as nice as the student's cars.

A commuter campus, any commuter campus, but certainly an accurate description of Holmes's Ridgeland facility. At 7:56 a.m. there's hardly a vehicle on a parking lot. At 7:59 there is a sudden influx of autos and the lots are full; at 3:30 the entire process goes into reverse.

It's got its pluses and minuses. No dorm mother to worry about. No stolen bikes, no key deposits or post office boxes. But my roomie who works full-time is never able to share the fun of talking about my friends and teachers.

A commuter campus. It's different -- no question about it. It's making its own traditions, a recent first place in the Scholar's Bowl, and much lies ahead. I'm part of it. But oh, if I could just go back to the dorm once in awhile and grab a few zzzz's.

Through These Doors

Colleges sometimes refer to its alumni as "students who have walked through our doors," so here is a look at some of Holmes' "doors." In recent years, Holmes has expanded its doors to the Ridgeland Campus and the Grenada Center, making the college more accessible to a greater number of students, in particular those who are returning to school after sampling the working world only to realize there is a need for more education. Opposite page.

What does a vice-cop, a guitarist and three men in jumpsuits have in common?

The Student Government Association brought many entertaining and informative programs to the Goodman Campus during activity period. Classical guitarist Giovanni De Chiaro performed on both the Goodman and Ridgeland Campuses. In addition to the classical, his selections included pop and Christmas carols. In addition to performing, De Chiaro teaches music at the University of Southern Mississippi. This talented musician debuted at Carnegie Hall in 1976. NASA commissioned this guitarist to compose an original classical guitar composition for the Space Shuttle program in 1989.

MIKE ESPY

Commencement Speaker

Congressman Mike Espy, who represents Mississippi's Second Congressional District, is currently serving in his second term in Washington.

Undaunted by the fact that he was the youngest Democratic House member in the 100th congress, Espy worked to pass the Lower Mississippi River Valley Delta Development Act, becoming the only freshman member of congress to pass a major piece of legislation. The act will serve as a design for economic development in a seven-state area including Mississippi, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Espy introduced and subsequently worked for the passage of the bill designating National Catfish Day, focusing attention from points around the globe on the catfish industry. The popular pond-raised fish, fast becoming a mainstay of American menus, is responsible for the employment of 17,000 constituents who reside in Espy's district.

The Yazoo City native is a member of both the Agricultural Committee, the House Budget Committee, and the Select Committee on Hunger. In addition, he lends his expertise to four subcommittees of the Agriculture Committee.

As a member of these committees, Espy has been able to make certain that programs, such as the Women, Infants and Children Food Program, continue. Espy worked diligently on the Rural Economic Bill.

On the state level, Espy was appointed last year to chair the Mississippi chapter of the Democratic Leadership Council.

Although his victory in 1986 granted him his first elective office, he served more than six years in state government. The Yazoo County public servant served as managing attorney with Central Mississippi Legal Services, Assistant Secretary of State, and Assistant Attorney General. As chief of the consumer Protection Division in the Attorney General's office, Espy helped return more than $2 million to victims of consumer fraud in the 18 months preceding his resignation to run for a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Espy graduated from Howard University in Washington, D.C., with a degree in political science, and the University of Santa Clara Law School, in Santa Clara, Calif. He has two children, Jamilla and Michael.

REACHING FOR THE STARS

A NIGHT OF STARS

Homecoming festivities began with a blast on Monday night with "A Night of Stars" featuring humorist Jerry Clower. The event was scheduled in order to raise money for a Holmes' scholarship fund. Appearing for this event was nine-time Country Comic of the Year Jerry Clower.

Joining Clower was Class Reunion, a popular group of musicians from Kosciusko, many of whom are alumni of Holmes.

Miss Holmes Community College

April Dorsey also added her talents to the evening's entertainment.

Another attraction was Holmes staff member and alumni Jamie Sample who also lent her voice in the effort to provide funds for the Development Foundation's Scholarship Fund.

These Three Really Understand Homesickness

Holmes Opens Doors to Foreign Students

Christian Kohlheb

Christian Kohlheb, 19, is from Budapest, Hungary. He came to the United States originally to spend his senior year at East Holmes Academy. Christian's father strongly encouraged him to study abroad.

After returning home to Hungary last May, he realized he had missed the deadline to enroll in college there. In that country, the last month to enroll in college for the fall semester is March.

He then decided to return to America and attend Holmes.

Christian says the most exciting time of his life is coming to the U.S., but he did have to make some adjustments. The biggest of which was learning the language. The English he learned in school is different from the English, with the slang and dialect, we use here.

He feels that English is a very important language and he hopes to use English in his career. Christian's major is engineering.

The activity Christian misses most is snow skiing. He says there is matching like snow skiing and encourages everyone to try it. The activities Christian enjoys here at Holmes are reading books, playing tennis and ping pong.

Boris Maglic

Boris Maglic is an international student from Rijeka, Croatia. He became an exchange student in Central Holmes Academy in Lexington. He graduated from Central Holmes in 1991, after one year of exchange student experience.

Boris is delighted with hospitality and sincerity of southern people, especially his host-family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Wentworth of Pickens, to whom he has strong ties. Edwin B. Bridgforth has also given Boris a great deal of advice and support during his time here at Holmes.

Boris's major is marine biology and plans on becoming a researcher of the Adriatic Sea. He was born in a town on the coast of the Adriatic Sea.

At home he enjoyed sailing and rowing. In the states, he has found he likes a variety of sports including basketball, tennis, and ping-pong.

Boris is very delighted with the high level of education he receives for his major in the math and science department, but on the top of his list is sincerity and care of people who work at Holmes Community College.

Euler Ximenes

Euler Ximenes, 18, is a student from Brasilia, Brazil. he came to the United States to spend his senior year at East Holmes Academy.

Euler's hometown is a city with a population of about two million people. So living in the small town of Durant was quite an adjustment.

Euler even found it a bit frightening at first. His houseparents, Larry and Estella Allen, live on an unpaved road outside of Durant. He just was not accustomed to this type of environment.

The Allen's son, William, helped the Brazilian with his English. He loved the experience of learning a new language and culture.

He has also enjoyed learning new sports. He had never played baseball and football. He uses any free time he has to play sports.

His talent at the game of basketball has earned him a space on the Holmes roster. Euler appreciates his instructors and all their help, especially with the language.

The pre-med major would like to continue his education, but he misses his friends and family in Brazil and would like to return there to complete his studies.

ADMINISTRATION

Opening the mind of a college student can often be like opening Pandora's  . It takes an  armed with knowledge, humor, and enthusiasm to handle it. In addition to the teaching faculty, every member of the Board of Trustees, the administration, professional staff, and non-instructional staff is to the school
running smoothly.

Lighting a Fire in Student's Minds

Five Holmes Community College faculty members attended the Lamplighter project held in Jackson in October.

held annually, the Lamplighter Project is sponsored by the Mississippi Community/Junior College Academic Dean's Association in order to recognize and reward effective teaching in the Mississippi community and junior colleges, to give instructors an opportunity to share with one another those teaching techniques that promote learning, and to give classroom instructors exposure to classroom research.

Josephine Haley

One of the Goodman Campus representatives was Josephine Haley. The Carrollton native has taught English on the Goodman Campus for over 20 years, and was named as a Lamplighter for the innovative approach she's used in her English comp and lit classes.

Currently working on her doctorate at Ole Miss, Haley's interest is Faulkner. The author is one of her favorite topics, both in and outside the classroom.

Widow of long-time faculty member Chris Haley, Josephine is the mother of three daughters, Christi, Paula, and Leah.

She received both her bachelors and masters from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Mary Brantley

Mary Brantley was selected as one of the representatives of the Ridgeland Campus.

An English and creative writing instructor,

Brantley joined Holmes when the Ridgeland Campus opened in 1985. She received her B.A. in English with a secondary area in French in 1975. The University of Mississippi granted her an M.A. in English in 1978.

At Holmes, she has chaired the English Department for the District since 1988. She is a member of the College Council and the Faculty Development Committee. She is the adviser for the Ridgeland Creative Arts Club and sponsored Reflections literary magazine for the previous two issues.

In addition to the classroom duties she performed for Holmes, Brantley also conducted an in-service workshop on creative writing at Canton Elementary and participated in a workshop on Greek drama at Millsaps College.

The Lamplighter Project

Russ Bishop

Russ Bishop, a history instructor, also joined the Holmes staff in 1985 when the Ridgeland Campus opened.

Bishop received his B.S.

from Troy State University and his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of Southern Mississippi. He specialized in Medieval European History when pursuing his doctorate.

He now lives in Jackson and teaches Western Civilization and American History.

Linda Lewis

Linda Lewis, a biological science instructor, represented the Grenada Center.

She received her B.S. from Blue Mountain College and M.S. from Delta State University. She has completed additional studies at the University of Mississippi.

Lewis is now in her fifth year of teaching anatomy and physiology, microbiology, zoology, botany, and general biology for Holmes. In addition to her courses, she is co-adviser for the Baptist Student Union.

Before coming to Holmes, Lewis taught biology for 16 years at Charleston high School in Tallahatchie County and was a part-time instructor for Northwest Mississippi Junior College.

She and her husband Gary make their home in Holcomb along with their two children, David and Leslie. She assists her husband in the music ministry at Mount Olive Baptist Church in Carroll County.

AT THE HEAD OF THE

Lynn A. Wright '65, marketing technology faculty member and Co-operative Education Coordinator on the Ridgeland Campus of Holmes Community College's three-facility system, is the college's 1992 Higher Education Appreciation Day Working for Academic Excellence, or H.E.A.D.W.A.E., representative.

Established in 1988 by State Representative Cecil Simmons, the program each year recognizes an outstanding faculty member and student from each of the state's two-year and four-year public and private colleges. Wright, with Goodman Campus student H.E.A.D.W.A.E. representative, Becky Buford, will attend a February honorees's banquet. Then they will be publicly recognized as H.E.A.D.W.A.E. representatives.

Wright is a 1965 graduate of Holmes who went on to Mississippi State University to earn a bachelor's degree. She received her master's from Mississippi College. Both degrees are in business education. The Holmes honoree has an additional 30 hours beyond her graduate degree in market administration and computer science.

The Holmes graduate returned to her alma mater in 1985 when the Ridgeland Campus opened. Before returning to Holmes she taught in high school.

Wright is an active member of a number of professional organizations. She served as president of the Mississippi Association of Marketing Educators and is Entrepreneurial Development Trainer for the Mississippi Community College Foundation. The Ridgeland Campus instructor designed and implemented the first diversified occupational cooperative education curriculum specifically for technical students.

A board member for the Mississippi Association of Vocational Educators, Wright has been a presenter at the group's last eight annual conferences. her contributions to this group and the others to which she belongs were recognized in 1990 by the Madison County Chamber of Commerce when the group presented her with its Outstanding Educator Award.

Wright said, "I consider it an honor to be selected for this award. And in turn I am pleased our legislature has seen fit to recognize those who are involved in the education process, both inside and outside the post-secondary classroom.

"As far as I am concerned the origins of this award date back to my freshman year at Holmes. It is because of Holmes faculty and staff encouragement and support that I continued my education.

"I am so pleased that I am working for Holmes now. And this award is made even more meaningful since I am part of the Holmes family."

The Holmes faculty member is married to Elton Wright '63. He, like his wife, is a career educator, teaching science and coaching at Forest Hill High School. They have two children, daughter Sandy and son Sam.

A member of Raymond Road Baptist Church, she has served as Sunday School Teacher, Children's Church Director and member of numerous committees.

ATHLETIC STAFF

Henry B. McClellan
Athletic Director
Exec. Vice-President
Business Manager

Henry B. McClellan, long-time Holmes administrator, received both his undergraduate and graduate degrees from Mississippi State University. He is an enthusiastic sportsman, interested in fishing, hunting, and golf.

McClellan and his wife

Sherrie, known to everyone who call the Holmes switchboard as the voice of the college, have three children. Daughters Beth and Tess are both Holmes graduates, as is Beth's husband David McBride. Son Trey plays prep ball at Central Holmes Academy.

Robert Pool
Head Football Coach

Robert Pool completes his sixth year as head coach of Holmes. This comes after as two years as an assistant coach in 81 and 82, and four years as head football coach at Greenwood High School.

Pool attended Northwest in Senatobia. He received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Missisissippi.

His wife, Billie Joyce, is a member of the social science department, where she teaches sociology, marriage and family, and political science.

David Coates
Assistant Football
Coach

David Coates came to Holmes four years ago from coaching in the high school ranks, first in Marianna, Fl., where he taught for two years, and then Jackson Prep, where he spent six years.

As a man on the field, Coates won All-State honors in his hometown of Bridgeport, Ala. then took his talents to the Ole Miss Rebels as their quarterback from 1973 to 1977. He continued his education at East Tennessee State University.

His wife, Rosemary, is a nurse. They, along with the children, Drew, Patric, and Mary Ellen, make their home in Goodman.

Hugh Shurden
Assistant Football
Coach

Shurden has played on Holmes Teams, those of 1967 and 1968, and he has coached the teams for the last seven years.

Prior to coming to Goodman as a member of the faculty, the Mathiston native coached in the high school of his hometown for two seasons and then moved on to at Sturgis High School, where he spent six years.

An All-State Center at Holmes, he then went on to Mississippi State, where both he and his wife, Barbara, graduated.

Shurden has three children: Mandy, Chuck, and Brittany.

Dave Brockmeyer
Volunteer Assistant
Football Coach

The newest addition to the Holmes coaching staff, Brockmeyer lends his services to the school as a volunteer. He has been coaching in central Ohio and northern Florida for the last 15 years.

As Junior College standout, he finished his collegiate career at Louisiana College. From college it was on to the pro ranks where he played both Canadian and American brands of football.

Brockmeyer and his wife Sue, who died in December, made their home in Goodman.

Ladner Hemphill
Trainer and Equipment
Manager

Ladner Hemphill is affectionately called by all fortunate enough to know him "Slim." Coming originally to Holmes in 1982 from Carrollton High School as a talented defensive back and tight end, he came to college with no desire other than to be a trainer.

Now a full-time Holmes staff member, he is both a trainer and equipment manager. He lives on the Goodman campus as resident staff member of the athletic dorm.

Bennie Kimble Men's Basketball Coach

It is difficult for anyone to remember a time when men's basketball at Holmes did not mean Bennie Kimble.

In his twenty-first year at the head of that program, Kimble is himself a junior college product, having spent two years at Copiah-Lincoln, where, of course, he played basketball.

From there, he went on to Southeastern Louisiana university. He received a master's from Delta State.

His wife, Jo, teaches math on the Goodman Campus. Both of their children, Jennifer and Todd, attended Holmes.

Ron Aldy Women's Basketball Coach

While only in his fourth season with Holmes, Aldy has certainly made his mark.

In his third season with the team, the team brought home the state championship trophy, captured the division title and participated in the Region XXIII Tournament Championship game. He was named Mississippi Coach of the Year for junior/community college women's basketball.

Aldy's wife, Wanda, is a reading and math instructor. They have two children: Brittany, who plays prep ball, and Jay, a recent Holmes graduate.

Quinby Morgan Head Baseball Coach

Quinby Morgan again took over the duties of the Bulldog Baseball team after a 12-year hiatus from that sport. However, the District Director of Purchasing and Receiving has never strayed from sports entirely.

Morgan, who came to Holmes in 1968 after receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees from Delta State, served for seven years as an assistant coach for the football team. In 1975, he took over the helm of the program, where he remained until 1979, when he became Goodman Campus director of maintenance, a position he held until 1987, when he assumed his present duties. He and wife Becky have three children: Aaron, Hamer, and Lew.

Audra Love Tennis Instructor

Audra Love completes her second year as a tennis coach, a duty which she shares with Robert Harris. She will again be a member of the business department as instructor for Accounting I & II, economics and business law.

The Goodman resident received her Bachelors of Accountancy degree from the University of Mississippi in May 1989. In August of 1990 she received her Masters of Accountancy from the same institution.

In the summer of 1986, the Kosciusko native was a tennis instructor at Camp Soaring Hawk in Purdy, Missouri.

Robert Harris Tennis Instructor

Robert Harris, in his second year as a tennis instructor for Holmes, completes his sixth year as an instructor of computer science on the Goodman Campus.

He came to Holmes immediately following his acquisition of a Masters in Teaching from Mississippi State University in Aug. 1986. he received a B.S. in computer science from that same institution in May 1985. A native of Crystal Springs, Robert participated on the tennis team at Crystal Springs High School.

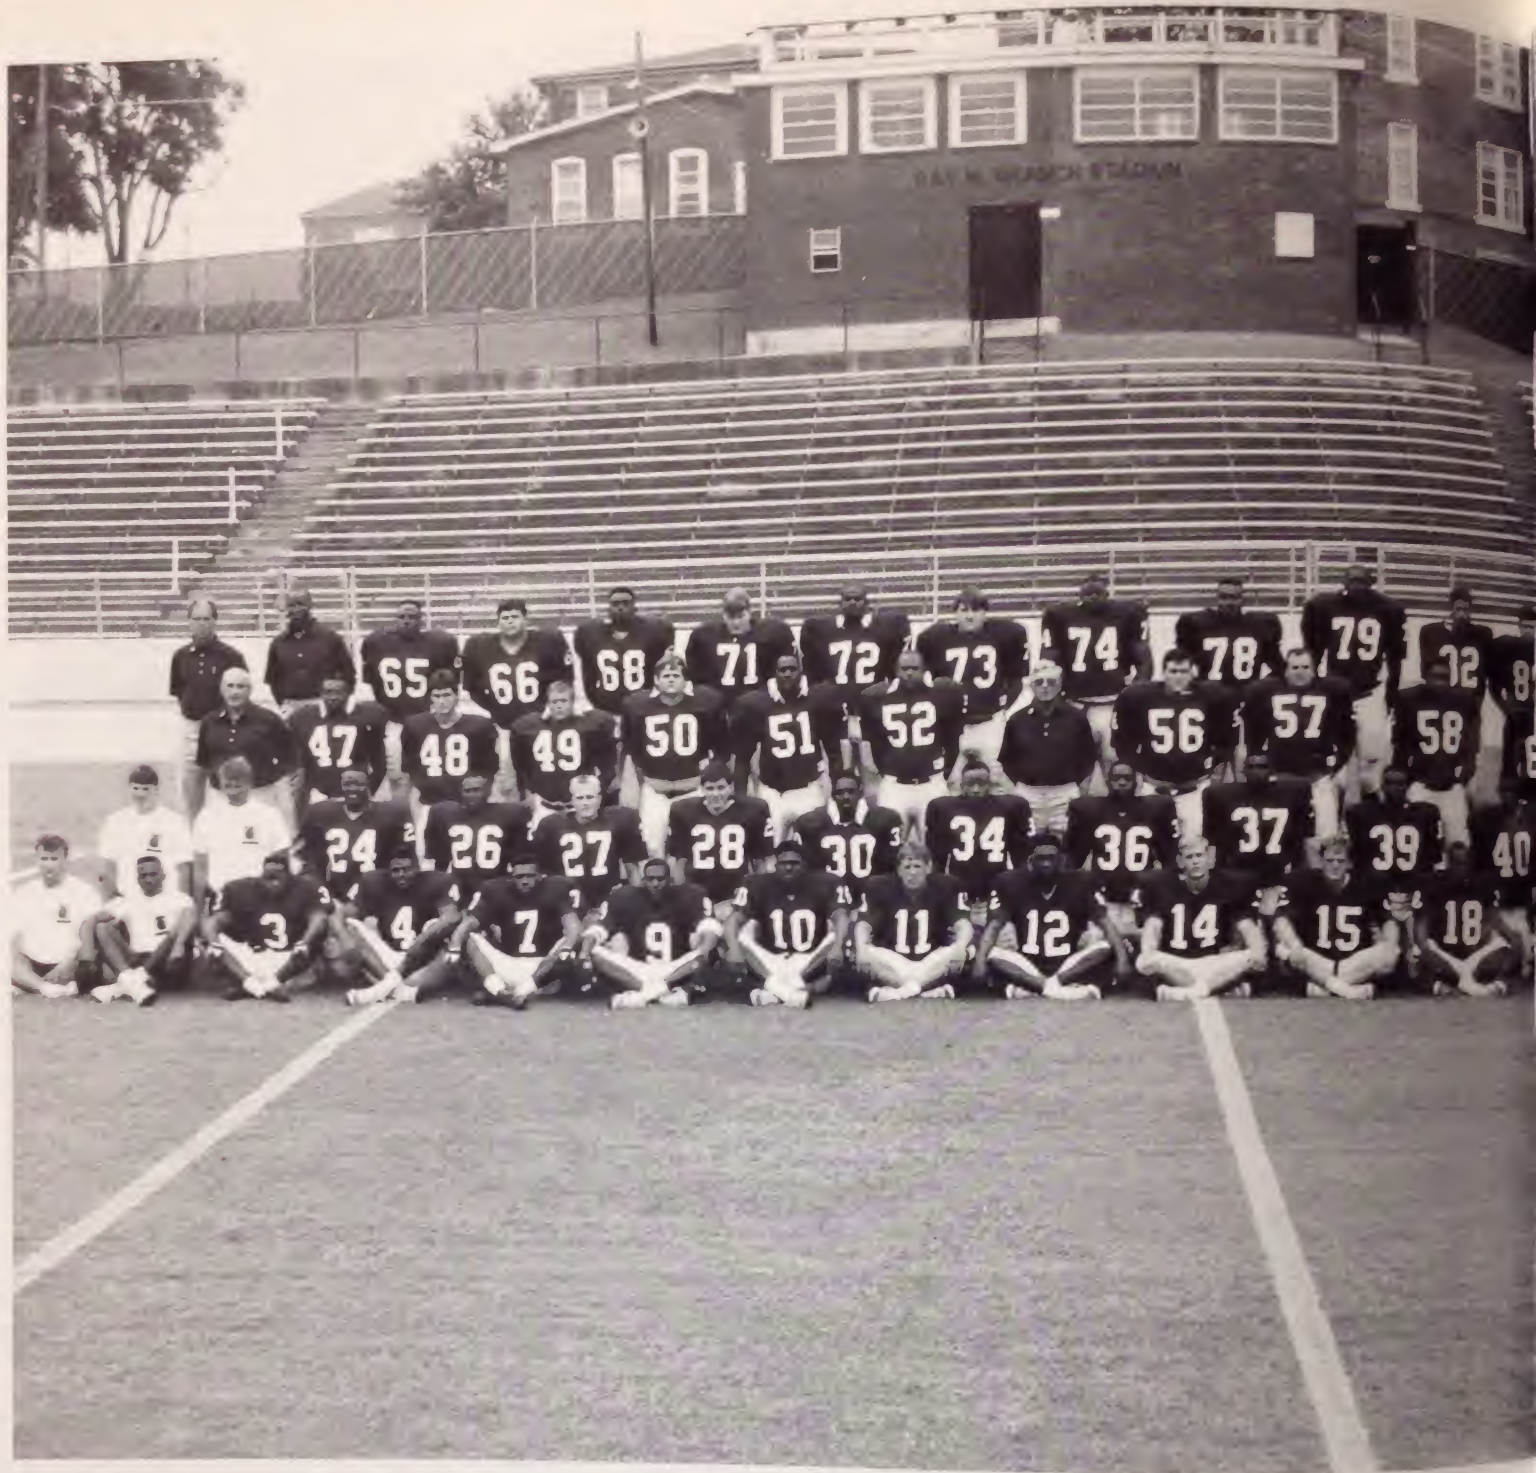

He resides in Goodman.

The Lady Bulldogs Put Hard Work into the Hardwood and Find. . .

At the beginning of the season, the fans of the Lady Bulldogs expected great things from Coach Ron Aldy and the Holmes Community College women's basketball team. The team contained a core group of sophomores that had played on the team that won the 1991 State Title. The followers of the club anticipated the talent of the sophomores with the help of the freshmen would again produce success on the court.

Right from the start it was obvious this team would be tough to beat. In the first game, against Hinds Community College, five players scored in double digits, with Sonya Holmes being the leader scorer with 18. The Lady Bulldogs came back to Goodman with an easy victory of 91-59.

When the team returned to campus, the pressure was on.

The time off during the break between semesters can sometimes prove detrimental for a team, and now the women had a reputation to live up to and plenty of other schools hungry to beat the undefeated team.

However, this proved to be an impossible task. The Lady Bulldogs remained undefeated through the regular season, the North Division Tournament, and the State Tournament.

Ironically, the final game of the State Tournament was amazingly similar to their first game of the season. Their opponent was again Hinds and again five of Holmes' players scored in double digits. The leading scorer was Kim Wingard with 25 points. The final score: Holmes, 93; Hinds, 75.

These accomplishments garnered the Lady Bulldogs a ranking in the National Junior College Associated Press Poll, going as high as third at one point.

Best Defensive Player, 1991

When the sun begins to shine more frequently, the breezes begin to blow warmer, and the campus becomes more colorful as plants come back to life after the winter freeze, the minds of Holmes students turn to baseball.

And what could be more enjoyable on a warm spring afternoon than donning a pair of shorts and a pair of shades and heading for the stadium to watch our boys run a few around the plates?

Whether you're a fan of pitching, hitting, or fielding, watching a game of baseball is a great way to spend the afternoon.

Prof. Holmes "Bully" McWagy II, Holmes Community College's mascot, died of natural causes Thursday, Aug. 15. He was eleven years old.

Bully was born in Eupora on May 5, 1980. He was presented to Holmes by his owner, Whitley E. Wilson.

The Letters in "McWagy" represent the counties which make up the Holmes district.

Dot Thomas, a former Holmes staff member, took on the responsibility of giving bully the care and attention, and love he needed for many years. He will be greatly missed by all.

RECAP

we gained. We have become brighter, stronger people, ready to meet the challenges that we will face throughout our lives.

And the tools we have gained

As we look back through this yearbook and back over this year, we can see the many tools we used this year at Holmes Community College. But we can also see the tools at Holmes, through our classes, our instructors, our friends, will stay with us and continue to make better people--better to our families, our friends, our world, ourselves.

Some of us will return to Holmes next fall. Others will move on. But there will always be a place, whether it IS in Goodman, Grenada, or Ridgeland, that has given us the tools to be the people we are now and the people we will be in the future.

And it will always be a part of us.

We have the tools, now it is time to finish the job.
